[REDACTED] Grenadian Prime Minister Bishop arrested at least 19 alleged conspirators this weekend and was apparently closing in on dozens more after the exposure of what he called a major plot to overthrow his regime. The government announced that some former officers of the Grenadian security forces had been detained along with members of a new political party, whose leader was jailed last month in another alleged coup attempt. Bishop has accused US-based political groups of involvement but has so far declined to accuse the US Government. [REDACTED]
